

Roy & Kathi Merritt
April 13, 2007

P-r-o-g-r-e-s-s on Haven II

Haven II is c-o-m-i-n-g along.

Endgame details during the endgame seem to take forever!

The huge septic tank is just about done. Today is Easter Monday--a holiday throughout the land. Haven II workers decided they would work instead. This week's big job is to pour a concrete lid over the top of the septic tank.

Too bad it's not a swimming pool!

Painting makes the rooms look pretty good. Floors are ready for tiles. This is a corner of the living/dining area.

The master bedroom.

Painting burglar bars is fiddly and messy.

Hope he wipes those drips before they take root.